PERMEX SHUTTERS are featured on HOME Magazine's American Home of the Year—The Clubhouse Cottage. The Daniel Island Home, in the Jekyll Island tradition was designed by Schmitt Sampson Walker Architects and built by Kalman Construction Corporation of Charleston, SC.

Located on charming Daniel Island, SC, the Show House combines historic beauty with twenty-first century resort-like amenities. Though the house draws its inspiration from the past, the 7,000 square foot home (plus two 1,500 square foot lower-level wings) uses the latest state of the art building materials.

“While the materials appear to be traditional, they actually consist of synthetic look-alikes chosen for their durability and low maintenance,” says Kevin Kalman, “that’s why we chose J&L/PERMEX Shutters for the house. They look exactly like wood, but are completely synthetic.”

PERMEX Shutters has created the only maintenance free, historically correct, functional exterior shutter on the market today. “We are proud to be a part of this special state of the art house,” says Jack Horn of PERMEX.

The 2004 American Home of the Year will be open to the public from April 15 until May 31 to benefit the Susan G. Komen Cancer Foundation – Charleston Affiliate.
